“ Words of sympathy

Shauna Thomaswick Wujek wrote a sympathy message

“I was the women's swimming coach at the university of northern iowa in the early 80s. Lyn was one of my swimmers. She was a high energy, fun, caring, and sweet individual to coach. I was so very sorry to hear of her passing from her dear friend, cindy, who was another of my swimmers. My deepest sympathies go to her family and friends. May your memories of her bring you comfort and peace in the coming days as you move forward in life without her by your side. Shauna thomaswick wujek”

“ Lyn and I always shared the craziest comments to each other at school. She gave me a goofy plaque to hang in my office that I looked at every day. She was so loved by her students and several close faculty members, me included. I think of her now and then since I moved to NC in 2018, and now big time! Rachelle Vachon

“ Mrs. Smith Miller was an amazing role model to me in middle school; she was really funny and always filled with joy. She was one of the first people to encourage me to enjoy running, something I am so passionate about now. She saw potential in others that they did not see it in themselves, and cultivated it. Mrs. Smith Miller I feel so thankful to know have known you <3

“ Your bright eyes and smile are now lighting up the Heavens alongside your beautiful daughter's. May you rest in peace knowing that you are loved and that you inspired so many of us with your great sense of humor, your down to Earth nature and your unyielding hope for better things to come. Shine on, Lyn. Jacky Gottesman

“ My heart is broken and there are too many great memories (dating back to 6th grade!) to even begin to share. Lyn - you made the mold, and then you broke it. You taught me to take the bull by the horns and stand up for myself. If I can find any consolation in your leaving, it's only that you'll finally have peace and rest. The candle that burns the brightest burns the fastest.

“ Lyn imparted a sense of hard won accomplishment to my tentative-athlete daughters. She inspired them to strive with awkward tween coordination, and rewarded them with genuine warmth and the great gift of self confidence. She leaves a bit of her best self in each of them . . . and so many like them.

“ Rest In Peace, Lyn. Thank you for all the times you made us laugh and all the times you insisted on the truth.
