

Cynthia Tyson

December 2, 2017

Cynthia Tyson, known to many of her beloveds as “Aunt Peach,” died surrounded by friends and family at Nashoba Valley Medical Center on December 2, 2017, after a valiant battle with progressive lung disease.

After retiring to Central Massachusetts from Philadelphia, Cynthia became a cashier at Donelan’s in Groton, where she adored her customers and enjoyed staying busy. She will be greatly missed by her sister Ellen McAloon, her niece, Rayellen, who was her caretaker for many years, and her many nieces and nephews who were each in their own way her “favorites,” as well as her local and faraway special people that were drawn to her gentle and loving ways.

Aunt Peach loved following the weather, playing cards, and watching Disney movies and HG TV. It was a great treat for her to go to tea, out to eat with her buddies, and attend or listen to story-telling. She was also an avid shopper and lived to make her beloved kitties, Kitty, Millie and Karma comfortable. The kitties are now living at the amazing Pat Brody Cat Shelter, in Lunenburg, where they are patiently awaiting new homes “ Peach was so lucky to have the love and care of Rayellen, James, and Max. She was forever on their minds and in their hearts. I was lucky to meet her a few months ago and enjoy a fun evening of painting together. She will be missed, but always remembered with a smile. Condolences to all friends and family.
