“ I had the distinct honor and privilege to serve with Don on the town's Historical Commission, Shirley Historical Society board, and the Meeting House. He consistently brought to every meeting a sense of joyful purpose. Regardless of the gravity or mundaneness of a meeting, he would find something fascinating to talk about that would re-energize the members. He never took himself too seriously and that made him so approachable to all who knew him. He loved life and wanted to share this great love with his family and friends. I shall miss him dearly.
