Errol was born on August 21, 1965, in Georgetown, Guyana, a son of the late Michael Hernandez and Ernestine Prince Hernandez. He had lived in Brazil for several years before moving to Fitchburg four years ago.

Errol was a hardworking and determined man whose life was marked by perseverance, adventure, and generosity. Beginning at a young age as a diver in the gold mining industry, he worked tirelessly and eventually built and operated his own successful mining business. As a businessman,

He enjoyed fishing and often shared fond memories of his years in the oil ship business. Known for his kindness, generosity, and warm spirit, Errol touched the lives of many and was deeply loved by family and friends alike.

Above all, he cherished the special bond he shared with his sons and grandchildren, who brought him immense pride and joy throughout his life. In his final days, one of his greatest joys was caring for his grandchildren and spending treasured time each day with his only grandson.
