“ Growing up, I was always by your side, Daddy’s Little Girl... whatever you were doing, I wanted to do it too; wherever you were going, I wanted to go too! I was firmly attached to your hip - always holding your hand - that was simply because you were my Hero!

As I continued to grow, I found myself drifting further away - this was not because I didn’t love you anymore, or because I didn’t need you anymore, or because we were both pig-headed and couldn’t apologize to each other when we had an argument, but because you raised me to stand on my own two feet and not to give up reaching for my dreams even when times were hard.

Even through that period of time apart, and even through all the anger, I never stopped loving you! Then on that one memorable day, all the anger and resentment just blew away as you held me in your arms while I cried. I will never forget that day - a day of acceptance and love finally shone through all that darkness that once existed.

We still continued to have our ups and downs, but what family doesn’t. Although you and I didn’t always see eye to eye, I never stopped loving you!

Why didn’t I call more often? (Because now I can’t hear your voice); Why didn’t I visit more often? (Because now I can’t see you); Why didn’t I give you a hug goodbye that day? (Because now I don’t have any more chances to do so); Why didn’t I give you a kiss on the cheek? (Because now I will never be able to again).

I can only hope that you can now finally rest easy, free from pain, no longer putting up a front that everything was OK.... I know you will continue watching over me, and although I can’t tell you I Love You one more time, I know you know! I love you Daddy - ‘til we meet again!

“ I had the pleasure of handling Henry's auto needs. After every sale I realized he was like an old "horse trader", he had me right where he wanted me. I'm glad I had the pleasure of meeting Henry and his family.

“ Henry was a great guys, always laughing and kidding around. I had the chance of meeting him and joining his family almost 30 years ago. I loved when the family would come down to Dayton after going to Disney World and we would go to JOES Pizza, Mike Sells potato chips and Ester Price candies. we would eat out almost every night they were down and i would tell the restaurant it was his birthday, he acted like he hated it but we all know he loved the attention. you will be deeply missed Uncle Henry. Love the McDowell Family.

“ Henry was a hard working and devoted family man. I had the pleasure of working with Henry when I started at CPF in 1997. We were friends at work but also around town. We often would see each other in town and could easily get sidetracked and talk for an hour. My thoughts and prayers go out to Pam, James and Stacey. Rest in peace Henry

“ This man has been such a big part of my life. We’ve gone through thick and thin and come out stronger for it because we were together.
Now my heart has broken into tiny little pieces and I don’t know if it will ever be whole again because part of me is no longer here.
Watch over us, Henry. Someday we’ll be together once more. I love you!!!
