“Lucille was an amazing person who taught me a lot. I met her over 23 years ago fresh out of college and she was always so kind and caring. As I grew and got married and had children she always asked how they were doing and would send me off with baked goods to enjoy with the family.

She had a great eye for art as she often went into consignment stores and located original paintings for a few dollars that turned out to be real special.

She loved birds like I do and we often shared stories about how they would go on chirping 'rants' at random times of the day LOL. She is someone who we can all learn from and I pray she will be watching over us with Don.
