March 3, 1940 - October 16, 2023

Richard P. St. Germain, 83, of Kennebunk, ME formerly of Ashburnham and Fitchburg passed away on Monday evening October 16, 2023 at his home in Kennebunk surrounded by his loving family.

He was born in Fitchburg on March 3, 1940 a son of the late George A. and Eugenie (Richard) St. Germain.

He was a graduate of Notre Dame High School in Fitchburg and shortly thereafter he joined the U.S. Army and served honorably until his discharge in 1966.

Dick, along with his brother, Bill, co-owned and operated the George A. St. Germain Funeral Livery Service of Fitchburg until retirement.

Dick enjoyed time, stories, and laughter with his family and friends, boat rides on the lake, snow skiing and road trips. He served as the President of the Flopenaufin Ski Club and the Lower Naukeag Lake Association. He was a member of the Elk's Club of Fitchburg and made a mean martini in his day. “ Dear Alice and family, I just saw about Dick's passing - my family and I extend our sincere condolences and sympathies to all of you. Sally and I so enjoyed the two of you those years at the Dunes of Seagrove. Dick with his big smile (and you too) was such a delight to be around and talk to, even with his health issues he was so positive. I have said that God's Hand guided us to Dunes many years ago just so we could meet and become friends with wonderful people like Dick and you. Never to be forgotten. God bless. “ Final Sunrise

We can't see them clearly but know they're there hidden in pre-dawn dark, just black silhouettes, that border the ridgeline in crisp autumn air.

*We know what they look like when daylight finds their Joseph coats of many bright colors
as they unbind from a solid black mass.*

*We can't see it clearly but know it's there secreted in early morning gloom, just a rush, a gurgle,
it flows on, as for centuries, to leviathan's lair.*

We know what it looks like when daylight finds its surface, ripples scattering light rays in profusion as it grinds bank and rocks that confine.

*We can't see them now but know they're there gone from our sight for the rest of our days on earth
free from worry and pain, in our Creator's care.*

*We'll know what they look like when final sunrise finds
all of saved humanity in spirit gathered together, for eternity where love of God and each other intertwines.*

“ This is sad news to all who knew and loved Dick. My deepest sympathy to his entire family. Dick, Billy, and their father, George, were probably some of the finest men Fitchburg ever produced. They served funeral homes near and far at all hours. They were dependable, courteous, generous, encouraging, and what they saw or heard was never repeated. Although they were not licensed funeral directors they taught the rest of us how to be successful. “The lesson is in the watch” (unknown). I reconnected with Dick following Billy’s passing. At his expense of course, he shared one story with me. In his early days of working at the George A. St. Germain Funeral Livery Service of Fitchburg, he drove a hearse on a very hot humid summer day to Springfield, MA for a burial. There was no air conditioning in the hearse. Alongside of him was Rodney M. Liversage the owner of the former H. L. Sawyer Funeral Home. It was customary at Sawyer’s that one wore a top hat on a funeral which Dick was not allowed to remove until they returned to Fitchburg. He quickly dropped off Mr. Liversage at 12 Brook Street, removed the hat, parked the hearse at the garage on Fox Street and headed straight to the camp in Ashburnham for a cool dip. I laugh when I look at Dick’s picture, but I “cry inside” because he is now no longer within our reach.

“ Dick was such a great guy. When my family moved to the lake right across from Dick. He was so welcoming and so genuine. My favorite memory of him was one day I was kayaking in front of my house and I noticed that Dick was standing on The raft he had and his golden retriever was on his boat and it was circling around the lake with only the dog on the boat. So I paddled over climbed up onto his boat and drove it back to the raft to let him get back to the shore without having to jump in with all his clothes on. We've missed him and Alice since they sold and moved two Maine.

May eternal light shine upon him and all of our dearly departed

The Timmerman family that had the camp in the cove. Your family took my brothers water skiing in the summer.

Those were magical and very memorable summers in Ashburnham.
